

Climate Change Policy and Global Justice: Bridging the Gap

Come hear from women creating community initiatives and international policies that address climate change and promote human rights and social justice.

Join MADRE for a panel discussion about climate change, women's human rights, and global justice.

Please RSVP to interadvocacy@madre.org

CO-SPONSORS
NYU International Education Forum
Earth Matters
Women's Environmental Development Organization

Thursday, January 24, 2008

Kimball Hall, New York University

246 Greene St., New York

10.30 a.m. - 12.30 p.m.

Please come with an I.D.

Panel includes:

ELSA STAMATOPOULOU,

Chief of the UN Permanent Forum on Indigenous Issues

YIFAT SUSSKIND,

MADRE representative to the UN
Climate Change Conference

ANNETTE WILLIAMS,

Sustainable South Bronx

MARY FRIDLEY,

Women's Environment and Development Organization

MADRE

Rights, Resources, & Results for Women Worldwide

121 West 27th St. #301 • New York, NY 10001

(t) 212-627-0444 • (f) 212-675-3704

www.madre.org